

Ethereal HDMI

We are now 4+ years and several iterations into the HDMI™ roll out and Ethereal Home Theater is still committed to the time and investment necessary to design and build the highest quality HDMI™ cables and components.

Every single HDMI™ item that we carry has been tested and approved by HDMI™ LLC, Simplay* and DPL™* (*when applicable). These are the agencies responsible for licensing and maintaining the High Definition Multimedia interface (HDMI™) specification.

Contrary to the popular myth “digital is digital, it’s just 1s and 0s” the HDMI™ interface is much more complex. Not only is the quality and quantity of the “1s” and “0s” important, the consistency of the two-way communications is also critical. With the introduction of 1080P/60 resolution as well as 10, 12 & 16 bit Blu-Ray players the rules for HDMI™ product design and manufacturing have become much stricter. Ethereal Home Theater works directly with HDMI™ industry leaders Jeff Boccaccio & Jay Victor to address all of these issues and new requirements.

DPL rating

The Digital Performance Level (DPL) rating program is designed specifically to provide manufactures, customers, and retailers a mechanism to judge the level of performance for each HDMI product over and above the HDMI compliance minimums.
